STUDENT GUIDE / EDITION 1.4

The Seattle Docket

Created by Yoav Duman

For Class | For Fun

Start the Seattle file

Choose For Class, enter your name, and select Open the Seattle file. A course or section is optional. Allow 45–65 minutes with time to save and submit.

You're a clerk advising a judge. Pick one record, give a recommendation, and explain how a fact or phrase supports it. The record opens beside your note. The case file and glossary help with unfamiliar terms.

Write and record seven notes

In Seattle, answer the senior clerk's objection and consider the separate property charge. In the Senate exercise, compare the same votes under two rules. Choose a second case and test your rule when one fact changes.

Write at least 340 words across the seven notes. Follow the minimum shown for each note, type in the activity, and select the record button below each response. You can paste text copied from that same response.

Pause or move devices

Choose Save or pause beside a note. Check the return point and choose Save and pause. Later, use Resume Class in the same browser.

To change devices, choose Back up progress and keep the .json file. On the other device, open the activity and choose Restore a progress backup. Review the file details before restoring.

Submit your PDF

After your final note, choose Open Class report, then Print or save as PDF. Use Save as PDF in your browser's print options.

Open the PDF and check your name, seven notes, and the last page. Upload it to Canvas and confirm submission. If your phone cannot save a PDF, move your progress backup to a computer and save it there.